FLUCTUATIONS IN MONEY IN THE COUNTRY

United States Prepares a Table Bearing on Finances of Past.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—A set of charts, carefully prepared for the national monetary commission, by Dr. A. Platt Andrew, special assistant to the commission, was made public by the commission today. These charts show in graphic form the progress of American and foreign banking during the past 30 to 40 years.

The first chart shows the progress in the number of national banks from about 1650 in 1827 through the gradual rise, to about 3500 in the summer of 1893. Then comes the depression of the line, due to the failures and liquidations following the panic of that year, until the number in the summer of 1895 falls below 3000. Then comes a sharp upward turn, which began in the summer of 1895, apparently as the result of returning business activity, but was sharply accentuated by the act of March 14, 1900, which first permitted the creation of national banks with a capital between $25,000 and $50,000. This upward movement continued practically unbroken until a total of nearly 6700 banks is attained in the summer of 1908, after which the movement is slightly relaxed as the result of the panic of 1907.

Even more interesting in some respects are the variations of the line indicating the number of state banks. Starting below 300 in 1827, the number is barely above 600 in 1876 and shows a decline to 475 in 1878. From that date to the summer of 1885 there is a gradual upward movement until the number of state banks is only a little under 1000. Then comes a depression to about 550, which suddenly turns in the summer of 1886 into a rapid upward movement, which has never been permanently interrupted. It was in 1892 that the number of state banks began to overtake the number of national banks. The lines of increase in banks of both types had been roughly parallel down to about the summer of 1883, with the state banks nearly 900 less in number than national banks.

Then began "a stern chase" by the state banks to overtake the national banks in number, influenced, apparently, by the small profit to the national banks on circulation, which arose from the high price of United States bonds. By the summer of 1891 the distance between the two classes of institutions had fallen to less than 100, by the summer of 1892, to less than 50, and by the summer of 1893 to a little more than 200. Finally, in the spring of 1895, in the face of national bank liquidations, the line of the number of state banks crossed that of national banks and began the upward movement which carries the line at an acute angle from about 3600 institutions in 1896 to 11,400 in the summer of 1908.

Capital and Surplus.
A somewhat different light is cast upon these figures by the second chart, showing the amount of capital and surplus funds of different classes of institutions. Here the state banks, many of them with capital much below the minimum permitted to national banks, lose the predominance which they derive from numbers. State banking capital and surplus funds in 1897 are shown to have been $100,000,000, while national banking capital and surplus funds were about $180,000,000. By 1898 these funds for national banks amounted to about $275,000,000, while for state banks they had risen only to about $110,000,000. Then came an upward curve in the line of progress of both classes, which culminated in 1893 with national banking capital of $270,000,000 and state banking funds of $325,000,000. The downward dip of the curve, after the panic of 1893, carried national banking funds to about $160,000,000 in 1895, while those of state banks were about $210,000,000. Then began the rapid upward movement of the past 10 years along almost parallel lines, leaving national bank capital and surplus funds in 1908 at $1,590,000,000, and similar funds for state banks at $720,000,000.

In Financial Centers.
The difference between banking conditions in New York and other financial centers is indicated by the chart of discount rates in Berlin, London, Paris and New York for the 20 years ending with 1908. The Paris rates are the most stable and the lowest, ranging from 4 percent only for brief periods at the Bank of France, and for still

PRIZE EL PASO BIRD IS DEAD

Queen and Five Other Valuable Birds All Die in a Night.

The prize hen at the El Paso fair is dead and poison is believed to have caused her death. She was owned by M. J. Sherwood, of Alameda avenue, and was a White Rock, known as Queen. The bird scored within a fraction of a point as high as any bird in the history of poultry associations and was greatly admired at the recent El Paso fair. Perfectly healthy when she went to her rest the evening before, Queen was found dead one morning recently, along with five other fine chickens. The sudden death of the five fowls leads the owner to suspect poisoning. One of the other victims was a partridge cock recently imported from Indiana, another was a Massachusetts White Rock, a very valuable bird. Three other White Rocks were also found dead.

JOSEPH H. HOUSE.
Joseph H. House, a real estate dealer engaged in business in El Paso for the past eight years, died at Providence hospital Thursday night from a complication of diseases after an illness of three days.

His wife and other relatives surviving him reside at Cleburne, Texas. They have been notified of his death and funeral arrangements are being withheld pending advice from them.

MRS. EMILY GALLIGAN.
Mrs. Emily Galligan, 49 years of age, died yesterday at her home, 405 Wyoming street. Surviving is her husband, H. T. Galligan, a railway employee. The body will be shipped to Milwaukee, Wis. The family has lived here for seven years.

Stomach Dosing Never Did or Will Cure Catarrh

Hyomei Will Cure Catarrh, or Your Money Back.

Yes, dear reader, catarrh can be cured; but not by pouring vile, nauseating drugs into the stomach.

You've got to kill the catarrh germs; that's all there is to it, before you can cure catarrh.

And catarrh germs thrive, flourish and multiply in the inner recesses of the nose and throat.

Can you kill these tough and persistent little health destroyers by swallowing pills or nostrum? Any physician will tell you it cannot be done.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey) is a germ killing vaporized air which, when breathed either through the mouth or nose, will kill catarrh germs and soothe and heal the inflamed and mutilated membrane promptly. It gives relief in two minutes.

Hyomei is such a powerful germ destroyer that it penetrates every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. And it kills the catarrh germs because it gets right where they are.

Hyomei is pleasant to use. It is made from Eucalyptus taken from the leaves of trees in inland Australia, where catarrh was never known to exist, also Thymol and other antiseptics.

Breathe in this pleasant, healing yet germ killing air (you'll like to use Hyomei) through a small hard rubber inhaler that comes with each outfit and relief will come quickly.

Hyomei is guaranteed to cure catarrh, or money back; it gives most wonderful relief to consumptives. A complete outfit, which includes inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and simple instructions for use, costs $1.00.

The hard rubber inhaler will last a lifetime so that should you need a second bottle of Hyomei the price is only 50c. Leading druggists everywhere and Kelly & Pollard sell Hyomei. Mail orders filled, all charges prepaid, by Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

PYTHIAN LODGE HOLDS LOVE FEAST

Twentieth Anniversary of Local Organization Brings Out Old Time Stories.

Pythian lodge members and their wives and families, on Thursday night, celebrated the 20th anniversary of the birth of the local organization. The presence of a few of the charter members led the thoughts of the lodgemen back to the day when El Paso Lodge No. 82 was born.

There are nine surviving charter members of the local lodge. They are: Frank Wells Brown, Judge Peyton F. Edwards, F. B. Simmonds, J. L. Connors, Frank Scotten, Otis Turner, Amzi Beria, W. W. Anderson and Fred L. Fitch.

Letters were read from Mr. Beria, now a resident of Newark, N. J.; from Mr. Fitch, of Austin, Tex.; and also from Mr. Turner, now of Alpine, Tex. Mr. Turner told of the difficulty of keeping the "bad men" out of the new lodge, and how the "good men" struggled toward that end.

Judge F. F. Edwards first addressed the assembled lodgemen, telling of the early history, and of the success enjoyed by its members. J. W. Lucas, 17 year member, but a long time Pythian, spoke of the lodge spirit, and W. M. Kirby, for many years a member of No. 82, spoke of "Fraternity."

Nearly 150 persons attended the affair, and besides the talks and reading of letters, enjoyed a dainty luncheon, and the music of an orchestra.

It was announced that local lodge members are looking to the establishment of branches at Alpine and Ysleta.

The meeting was presided over by H. Y. Ellis, who with M. R. Robinson and J. C. O'Bannon, known near and far as the "Irish consul at Chihuahua," is registered at hotel Zzeiger.

Gray Hair.

The Logical Explanation.
There is a great deal of misinformation about the cause of the hair and the cause of hair getting gray prematurely. It used to be believed that in some families gray hair was hereditary, like blue eyes or quick temper. Science, however, has proved that gray hair is simply a lack of the proper hair food, and is in every case an individual problem. Premature gray hair is easily preventable, and when it first appears all that is necessary is to supply some reliable hair food such as HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. This standard remedy is entirely harmless and is in no sense a dye, being a preparation rich in the exact kind of sustenance that the scalp needs to keep the hair from decaying. Gray hair is simply a sign of decayed hair. One of the most valuable books on the care of the hair can be had from the Philo Hay Specialties Company, Newark, N. J., U. S. A.

Cousins declared if the resolution is adopted it would be a blunder on the part of the conference, as separation would be a blow to Texas's educational interests. He declared he will oppose the measure with all his power.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South Georgia's State Chemist Praises "Nature's Gift from the Sunny South"

J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering of Cotton Seed men, gave emphatic praise to the high quality of Cottolene. He said:

"The sale of this product and the proclamation that it is made of cotton seed oil have done more to bring cotton seed oil truthfully and favorably before the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out that a pure, refined, vegetable-oil product such as Cottolene, is the only assurance a woman has of a clean, digestible, cooking fat.

It seems a positive wonder in the light of all that has lately been said and written, and of what is known of lard, where it comes from, of what it may be made, that anyone will continue its use, when pure, sweet and healthful Cottolene can be so easily obtained.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.
